

ABSTRACT

An information recording medium (100) is provided with: a recording area (106) to record therein record information by irradiating laser light thereto; and a recording control area (103) to record therein control information for controlling a laser power in accordance with a recording position in the recording area.